
Mark S. Broyles, AIA

Architect/Urban Designer

Mark brings professional project-based experience from a career that has included new buildings, historic preservation, landscape architecture, and urban spaces to the practice of urban design at Civitas. His work and travel abroad while living in London has further enriched his knowledge base. This professional interdisciplinary experience is underpinned by academic studies that included historic preservation technology, urban history, ecology, and the history of the American landscape.

Professional Experience

2000-Present, Architect and Urban Designer, Civitas, Inc., Denver, CO
1996-2000, Senior Designer, Livingston Eyre Associates Landscape Architects and Urban Designers, London, UK
1991-1996, Principal, Mark S. Broyles AIA, Silver Spring, MD
1988-1991, Senior Project Architect, Kerns Group Architects, Washington D.C.
1984-1988, Project Architect, Hoshide Williams Architects/ Planners, Seattle, WA
1980-1984, Project Architect, M. Jack Rinehart Architects, Charlottesville, VA

Education

1979, Master of Architecture, University of Virginia
1977, Bachelor of Science (Architecture), University of Virginia

Licenses and Registration

1982-1998, Licensed Architect, Commonwealth of Virginia
1989-Present, Licensed Architect, State of Maryland
2000-Present, Licensed Architect, State of Colorado
2004, LEED Professional Accreditation, US Green Building Council

Professional Memberships

American Institute of Architects, Member

Honors, Awards and Recognitions

2000, Award of Excellence, Washington Chapter AIA for the Drury-Austin House
1997, Historic Preservation Award, Montgomery Preservation, Inc. for the Drury-Austin House
1996, Historic Preservation Award, Montgomery Preservation Inc. for the Eden-Hamm Residence
1993, Northern Virginia Chapter AIA Honor Award for Centreville United Methodist Church
1981 & 1982, Sunday Prize for Architectural Drawing, James River Chapter, AIA

Invited Lectures and Teaching

2002-2003, Guest Critic, Undergraduate Architecture Studios, CU Boulder
2001, Guest Critic, Graduate Landscape Architecture Studio, University of Colorado at Denver
1996-1999, Guest Critic, University of Westminster School of the Built Environment, London, UK
1993-1996, Course Instructor, Architectural Design III, Montgomery College, Rockville, MD

Mark S. Broyles

Publications

- 1999, "Centre for Mathematical Sciences", Landscape Design
- 1999, March, Broyles, MS., "Common ground:landscape design at the Centre for Mathematical Sciences. Asymptopia, University of Cambridge
- 1995, November, Broyles, MS., "Architectural riffs: jazz and the art of home additions, The Takoma Voice, Takoma Park, MD
- 1995, October 18, Broyles, MS., "If you trust the salesman, you buy into the Dream machine [editorial], The Montgomery Journal
- 1992, April 11, "Centreville United Methodist Church, Kerns Group Architects", The Washington Post
- 1988, July 10, "Hellmann Residence, Dawson Hoshide Williams Architects/Planners", Seattle Times
- 1983, "Chewing Residence", M. Jack Rinehart, AIA, Southern Living Magazine

Project Experience

- 2005, Hyland Village Plan, Westminster, CO
- 2004, Beloit College Master Plan, Beloit, WI
- 2004, Carleton College, Northfield, MN
- 2003, Teton Village Core Comprehensive Plan, Jackson, WY
- 2003, Denver Union Station Master Plan, Denver, CO
- 2003, Avery Island Master Plan, Avery Island, LA
- 2003, Children's Hospital Redevelopment Study, Denver, CO
- 2002, South Broadway Corridor Redevelopment Study, Denver, CO
- 2001, Crossroads Mall Redevelopment/Urban Design Framework Plan, Boulder, CO
- 2001, Boise Pioneer Corridor Master Plan (Competition), Boise, ID
- 2001, Greenwood Village Town Center/Arapahoe Station RTD Facility, Greenwood Village, CO
- 2001, Denver Botanic Gardens Master Plan, Denver, CO
- 1999, Sutton Hoo Historic Site Visitors Centre (Landscape Design), The National Trust, Woodbridge, UK
- 1998, New Hall College Development Plan, University of Cambridge
- 1997, Centre for Mathematical Sciences (Landscape Design), University of Cambridge
- 1996, Batsons and Regents Wharf Residential Towers(Landscape Design), London Docklands, UK
- 1995, Drury-Austin Log House (Historic Preservation/Renovation), Boyds, MD
- 1995, Master Plan Submission, Silver Spring Revitalization Initiative, Silver Spring MD
- 1994, Eden-Hamm Residence (Additions/Alterations), Takoma Park, MD
- 1991, Centreville United Methodist Church, Centreville, VA
- 1990, Navy Mutual Aid Association Headquarters, Alexandria, VA
- 1990, Cherrydale United Methodist Church (Alterations), Arlington, VA
- 1990, Stanley Hall Chapel (Reuse and Historic Preservation) Washington, D.C.
- 1990, St. Johns Episcopal Church (Feasibility Study) Beltsville, MD
- 1986, Hellmann Residence Seattle, WA
- 1985, Mercer Island Civic Center Competition, Mercer Island, WA
- 1984, Roberts Hall, School of Engineering, University of Washington, Seattle, WA
- 1979, Scottsville Elementary School, Albemarle County, VA

Mark S. Broyles, AIA
Architect

Mark brings professional project-based experience from a career that has included new buildings, historic preservation, landscape architecture, and urban spaces to the practice of urban design at Civitas. His work and travel abroad while living in London has further enriched his knowledge base. This professional interdisciplinary experience is underpinned by academic studies that included historic preservation technology, urban history, ecology, and the history of the American landscape. Mark has in addition been active with the AIA's national Committee on the Environment and the Nature Conservancy in helping pursue broad-based initiatives towards a sustainable society.

Professional Experience

2000-Present, Architect and Urban Designer, Civitas, Inc., Denver, CO
1996-2000, Senior Designer, Livingston Eyre Associates Landscape Architects and Urban Designers, London, UK
1991-1996, Principal, Mark S. Broyles AIA, Silver Spring, MD
1988-1991, Senior Project Architect, Kerns Group Architects, Washington D.C.
1984-1988, Project Architect, Hoshide Williams Architects/ Planners, Seattle, WA
1980-1984, Project Architect, M. Jack Rinehart Architects, Charlottesville, VA
1979-1980, Architectural Intern, The Vickery Partnership, Charlottesville, VA

Education

1979, Master of Architecture, University of Virginia
1977, Bachelor of Science (Architecture), University of Virginia

Licenses and Registration

1982-1998, Licensed Architect, Commonwealth of Virginia
1989-Present, Licensed Architect, State of Maryland
2000-Present, Licensed Architect, State of Colorado

Professional Affiliations

American Institute of Architects, Member

Honors, Awards, and Recognitions

2000, Award of Excellence, Washington Chapter AIA for the Drury-Austin House
1997, Historic Preservation Award, Montgomery Preservation, Inc. for the Drury-Austin House
1996, Historic Preservation Award, Montgomery Preservation Inc. for the Eden-Hamm Residence
1993, Northern Virginia Chapter AIA Honor Award for Centreville United Methodist Church
1981 & 1982, Sunday Prize for Architectural Drawing, James River Chapter, AIA

Mark S. Broyles

Teaching Experience

2001, Guest Critic, Graduate Landscape Architecture Studio, University of Colorado at Denver
1996-1999, Guest Critic, University of Westminster School of the Built Environment, London, UK
1993-1996, Course Instructor, Architectural Design III, Montgomery College, Rockville, MD

Publications

1999, "Centre for Mathematical Sciences", Landscape Design
1999, March, Broyles, MS., "Common ground:landscape design at the Centre for Mathematical Sciences. Asymptopia, University of Cambridge
1995, November, Broyles, MS., "Architectural riffs: jazz and the art of home additions, The Takoma Voice, Takoma Park, MD
1995, October 18, Broyles, MS., "If you trust the salesman, you buy into the Dream machine [editorial], The Montgomery Journal
1992, April 11, "Centreville United Methodist Church, Kerns Group Architects", The Washington Post
1988, July 10, "Hellmann Residence, Dawson Hoshide Williams Architects/Planners", Seattle Times
1983, "Chewning Residence", M. Jack Rinehart, AIA, Southern Living Magazine